
Each vertical trajectory is one fold × optimization-repeat pair; point color indicates adaptation size. Dashed lines mark chance level. Source IIA values are training-set test means reported in the experiment record.